

THE OBSESSED LIST

The Top 10 Things We Love This Week

Jazz Hands

Europe's most exciting jazz festival is in town. Hosted by Temple Bar's Project Arts Centre, '12 Points' showcases the finest young jazz musicians on the continent. If you missed the opening night, don't worry – there's plenty more in store for jazz novices and aficionados alike over the next three days (May 5th-7th). 12points.ie

Sing Song

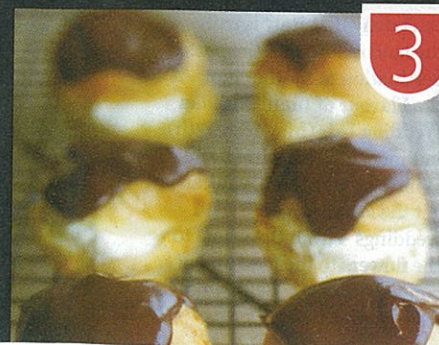

2

Musicians of Dublin rejoice! Whelan's has launched a new weekly singer-songwriter showcase and they're looking for submissions. Each Monday, four new acts will take to the stage to sing their hearts out. Contact songcycle@whelanslive.com to submit your ditties.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Happy 5th birthday to Dublin's favourite foodie haunt Fallon & Byrne. To celebrate the occasion and show off their culinary genius, the F&B team are making a six foot tower of profiteroles, or as they're calling it – a giant croquembouche, (they've always been a bit fancy down on Exchequer Street). Either way it spells deliciousness. Pop into the shop between 2pm-6pm on May 7th to sample the fruits of their labour. fallonandbyrne.com

Face Off

Think you've got a face that could launch a thousand ships? How about sell a thousand pairs of trainers? Champion and Adidas are looking for the new 'Face of Adidas Originals'. The competition, which ends on May 15th, will give one gorgeous guy or girl the chance to star in their very own ad campaign for the brand. champion.ie/alloriginals
